Shy Sister Almost Misses Reunion With Gary Powers

By BETTY JONES

WASHINGTON — Too shy to announce that she is Francis Gary Powers' sister, a Falls Church housewife almost missed a reunion with her U-2 pilot brother at the close of a crowded public hearing before U. S. Senators Tuesday.

Mrs. Veril Melvin had not seen nor talked to her brother since his release from a Russian prison Feb. 10.

SHE STOOD on the edge of the milling, pushing crowd surrounding Powers after Senate Armed Forces committee members had commended the pilot's conduct during capture and imprisonment.

Her brother, facing a hearing of television cameras, was unaware that Mrs. Melvin was at the hearing. A SUN reporter told the Central Intelligence Agency counsel accompanying Powers that Mrs. Melvin and Powers' other sister, Mrs. W. E. Hileman of Glassmanor, Md., were present and hoped to see their brother.

The official replied, "I suppose they can see him for a few minutes."

A Capitol policeman was sent to the other side of the crowd to bring Mrs. Melvin and Mrs. Hileman to Powers' side.

Nealon Drive, drove to the Senate committee hearing with a SUN reporter. The sister came in from Maryland by bus.

Both came in the hopes of seeing and speaking to their brother, who has been concealed by government authority during a
